SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Longing,
I remember a forest far away,
Whose alsies are cool and dim;
And there His voice has spoken to me
And my soul has answered Him;
In the scent of flowers, in the song of birds,
In the whispering south wind's breath,
He has spoken to me of life's mystery,
And the secrets of birth and death.

Tields,
Is lost in this endiess rush of men,
This ceaseless clamor of wheels:
And the soul grows sick with doubts and fears,

And the heart grows numb with pain,
As we wonder if ever the older faith

It's O, for the music of lark and thrush,
And the wandering water's flow;
It's O, for the shaded summer lanes
Where the sweet, shy violets grow.
My heart is yearning to find again.
The ways that my boyhood tred:
To know just a little less of men,
And a little more of God.

The equippage in which Mrs. Potter appears on the streets of Newport is exciting much comment, as she has imported for her men a bright blue and white livery, said to be the most striking seen in Newport since the time of the Jorome Napoleon Bonapurte livery, with its bright red collars. Crs. Potter is always perfectly gowned, and, if possible more lovely than ever.

The Old Man and Jim.

By JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

The portrait, autograph and biograph it sketch of Riley, with other scientions from his works, have already appeared in this sories.

Old man never had much to say-

Old man never had much to say—
'Ceptin' to Jim—
And Jim was the wildest boy he had,
And the old man jes' wrapped up in him!
Never heerd him speak but once
Er twice in my life—and first time was
When the army broke out, and Jim he went,
The old man backin' him, fer three months;
And all 'at I heerd the old man say
Was, jes' as we turned to start away— Was, jos' as we turned to start away—
"Well, good-by, Jim;
Take keer of yourse'f!"

Peared like he was more satisfied

Jes' lookin' at Jim And likin' him all to hisse'f-like, see? And likin' him all to hisse't-like, see?—
'Cause he was jes' wrapped up in him!
And over and over I mind the day
The old man come and stood round in the way
While we was drillin', a-watchin' Jim; And down at the deepet a-heerin' him say—
"Well, good-by, Jim;
Take keer of yourse'f!"

Never was nothin' about the farm Disting ished Jim;
Neighbors all ust to wonder why
The old man 'peared wrapped up in him; But when Cap. Biggler, he writ back 'At Jim was the brayest boy we bad In the whole dern rigiment, white er black, And his fightin' good as his farmin' bad—
'At he had led, with a bullet clean
Bored through his thigh, and carried the flag Through the bloodlest battle you ever seen. The old man wound up a letter to him 'At Cap. read to us, 'at said—"Tell Jim Good-by; And take keer of hisse'f!"

Jim come home jes' long enough

To take the whim 'At he'd like to go back in the calvery-And the old man jes' wrapped up in him! Jim 'lowed 'at he'd had sich luck afore, Guessed he'd tackle her three years more. And the old man give him a colt he'd raised, And follered him over to Camp Ben Wade, And laid around fer a week er so, Watchin' Jim on dress-parade; Tel finally he rid away, And last he heerd was the old man say,—

"Well, good-by, Jim: Take keer of yourse'f!"

Tuk the papers, the old man did,
A-watchin' fer Jim,
Fully believin' he'd make his mark
Some way—jes' wrapped up in him!
And many a time the word 'ud come 'At stirred him up like the tap of a drum: At Petersburg, fer instunce, where Jim rid right into their cannons there, And tuk 'em, and p'inted 'em t'other way, And socked it home to the boys in gray, As they skooted fer timber, and on and on-Jim a lieutenant—and one arm gone— And the old man's words in his mind all day— "Well, good-by, Jim: Take keer of yourse'f!"

Think of a private, now, perhaps, We'll say like Jim,
'At's clumb clean up to the shoulder-straps-

And the old man jos' wrapped up in himi
Think of him—with the war plum' through,
And the glorious old Red-White-and-Blue
A-laughin' the news down over Jim,
And the old man, bendin' over him— The surgeon turnin' away with tears As the hand of the dyin' boy clung to His Father's, the old voice in his ears—
"Well, good-by, Jim:
Take keer of yourse'f!"

It supplies in liquid form the needed food elements required to rebuild the nerve centres, hurt or destroyed by coffee. What do we mean by "nerve centres"?

These are found in various parts of the body, and each little nerve sack or envelope is filled with a soft, pulpy, gray substance that is really the life and energy of the nerve. Coffee and other stimulant narcotic poisons tend to destroy this gray matter,
